MAY 19, 2007, 12pm & 2pm, Rose Theater

New York, NY(4/9/07) Jazz at Lincoln Center's Artistic Director, Wynton Marsalis hosts the final Jazz for Young People Concert® of the season entitled, "How Do We Create Jazz Moods?" The performances will take place on Saturday, May 19th at Frederick P. Rose Hall, home of Jazz at Lincoln Center at 12pm and 2pm in Rose Theater.

Tickets are $12, $17, $32 and are available at Jazz at Lincoln Center's Frederick P. Rose Hall box office at Broadway at 60th Street (open Monday-Saturday 10:00am-6:00pm and Sunday 12:00pm-6:00pm), by calling CenterCharge at 212-721-6500 or via www.jalc.org.

Mr. Marsalis and friends show families (recommended for children ages 6 and older) how jazz music's changing tones, colors, rhythms and tempos can take us from being "Kind of Blue" to "Struttin' with Some Barbeque!" Like our emotions, jazz music is invisible and ever-changing. In the beat of a heart, jazz can take you from "April in Paris" to "Autumn in New York," from a "Stormy Monday" to the "Sunny Side of the Street."
